HAVE YOU HERD?

The American Association of Small Ruminant Practitioners (AASRP) is an organization supporting veterinarians with interests in small ruminant medicine and helps them to exchange ideas, share knowledge and work together to benefit the industry as a whole. AASRP offers a unique opportunity to build relationships with peers around the world and provide the best and most advanced services and products to clients.

AASRP MISSION

To improve the health and welfare of sheep, goats, camelids and cervids; to further the professional development of the members; provide resources to elevate the standards of small ruminant practice; and to be the voice for small ruminant issues.

AASRP MEMBERSHIP

AASRP OFFERS A VARIETY OF MEMBERSHIP OPTIONS

- ACTIVE MEMBERS Graduate veterinarians whose interests include small ruminant species
- ASSOCIATE MEMBERS Non-veterinarians interested in small ruminant species
- RETIRED MEMBERS Veterinarians who are retired from gainful employment and are at least 65 years of age
- STUDENT MEMBERS Students who are currently enrolled in veterinary school with interests in small ruminants

AASRP MEMBER BENEFITS

- Wool & Wattles quarterly newsletter highlighting pertinent information, events and abstracts.
- AASRP Website at AASRP.ORG which provides a wealth of information including a membership directory, continuing education opportunities, career center, listserv and much more!
- AASRP Listserv is a members-only email discussion group that allows members to share ideas and discuss problem cases with like-minded colleagues.
- Bugles and Orgles eNews features current news and information in an email format.
- Continuing Education programs are offered across the country, and student education is promoted at veterinary colleges through externships and grants.
- Find a Veterinarian is a service through the AASRP website where the public can search for an AASRP-member veterinarian in their area.
- Free online continuing education. Listen and view sessions from the AABP-AASRP conferences either on your computer or mobile device. Download the BCI Mobile Conference app to listen on your mobile device.
