2019 Cattle Production Veterinarian Hall of Fame

Friday, two deserving veterinarians were inducted into the 2019 Cattle Production Veterinary Hall of Fame. This year's inductees are Dr. Bob Glock, Marana, Ariz. (Beef) and Dr. Andy Johnson, Green Bay, Wis. (Dairy).

The award is sponsored by Merck Animal Health, AABP, the Academy of Veterinary Consultants and Bovine Veterinarian Magazine and was established in 2011. It honors the traditions of production veterinary medicine and the individuals who have made a lasting impact on the profession.

It's Calgary for the Win!

The University of Calgary doubled its chances by having two Quiz Bowl teams this year, and one of them made it all the way to beat the University of Pennsylvania in the last matchup on Friday.

In all, 27 teams representing 20 veterinary schools participated Friday morning in numerous matches and rounds of competition.

But the day wasn't over yet! At the afternoon break, the winning Calgary team went head-to-head with the "AABP Dream Team" of Drs. Carie Telgen, Mike Apley, Joe Hillhouse and Eric Behlke, while Quiz Bowl Master Dr. Arn Anderson threw some serious and not-so-serious questions to the teams. Last year the Dream Team edged out the students, but this year Calgary pulled off the win! Maybe the Dream Team needs to listen to some of AABP's online CE to prepare for next year's matchup....
